THE POWER OF POSITIVE THINKING

THE POSITIVE PRINCIPLE TODAY

ENTHUSIASM MAKES THE DIFFERENCE

☞ 1 Thess. 5:21-22 ☞

"Test all things; hold fast what is good.
Abstain from every form of evil."

Evil can hitchhike
on the good.

Acts 16:16-18

Now it happened, as we went to prayer, that a certain slave girl possessed with a spirit of divination met us, who brought her masters much profit by fortune-telling. This girl followed Paul and us, and cried out, saying, "These men are the servants of the Most High God, who proclaim to us the way of salvation." And this she did for many days. But Paul, greatly annoyed, turned and said to the spirit, "I command you in the name of Jesus Christ to come out of her." And he came out that very hour.

Evil can hitchhike
on the good.

This may seem slightly wacky to some of you, but give it a chance... a lot of people believe that the body has seven energy centers—called chakras—throughout the body, where the body, mind, and spirit interact. Each chakra corresponds to certain emotions and personality traits as well as a color. Here's how to activate the chakras: Sit down, and try to relax. Concentrate on the first (base) chakra, and visualize its color saturating the part of the body it governs. Do the other six chakras, ending at the crown. You'll rid yourself of stress and achieve an inner peace (at least according to Shirley MacLaine). This is how chakras affect your body, emotions, and personality:

- BASE or red chakra (found at the base of the spine) is the source of stability, individuality, health, courage, and patience.
- NAVEL or orange chakra is the source of passion, family, giving and receiving, and tolerance.
- SOLAR PLEXUS or yellow chakra is the source of will, power, authority, radiance, warmth, humor, and laughter.
- HEART or green chakra is the source of forgiveness, compassion, peace, and contentment.
- THROAT or sky-blue chakra is the source of communication, creativity, honesty, kindness, reliability, and gentleness.
- BROW or indigo chakra is the source of insight, imagination, concentration, and devotion.
- CROWN or violet chakra is the source of spiritual will, selfless service, and actualization of potential.

WORLD FEDERALISM

What is it? Why is it desirable?
How do we get it?

CRITICALLY URGENT PROBLEMS confront the world today: massive hunger, dwindling natural resources, exploding populations, pollution, and international terrorism, as well as the senseless slaughter and destruction of conventional warfare and the grim prospect that full-scale nuclear warfare could end all human life on our planet.

So far the world has seemed incapable of coping with these problems. Current international agreements and plans provide little basis for hope for future generations.

What is wrong? Advocates of world federalism believe that those seeking to solve these problems have been going about it in ways that offer little chance for success. Is there a better way? World federalists think so.

Let us start with the urgent problem of war prevention.

5,000 Years of Failure

Since the dawn of history independent social groups – tribes, ancient empires, medieval kingdoms, modern nations – have been warring on each other. In the twentieth century alone an estimated 90 million people have been killed in wars. Since 1945 there have been close to 100 wars, some small, some large and horribly destructive.

It is difficult to understand how a supposedly civilized world could condone for so many years the massive slaughter and mutilation of innocent

going to war against those who start wars.

On the international level we still live in the dark ages, in a state of anarchy. We still condone, implicitly, the immoral and unjust doctrine that "might makes right."

The way to end barbarity in international relations is to end the present system of international anarchy, replacing it by a system of enforceable world law—a system in which warfare and weapons of mass destruction are prohibited and conflicts between nations are settled by international courts of justice.

An Invention as Important As the Wheel

We all know that modern civilization would have been impossible without the invention of the wheel. Less obvious but equally true is the fact that it would have been totally impossible without the invention of government as the means of keeping a society orderly and largely nonviolent. Government is a remarkable idea. It combines three necessary elements: (1) written laws, (2) courts to interpret the laws and rule on specific cases, and (3) enforcement officials, including police, to enforce the laws. Together these provide the machinery for peaceful and just settlement of disputes—and for outlawing violence.

Without government, all of us would be living today in constant fear of robbery and violence. Every home would have to be an armed fort. The strong would take from the weak. Man's energies would be spent largely on self-protection.

No society has any real promise of being peaceful and orderly unless its members live under law. Peace and order, of course, are not in themselves guarantees of justice. Governments can be—and often are—unfair and oppressive. The degree of justice and the degree to which freedoms are safeguarded depend on the type of government and on the alertness of citizens. But one thing is undeniable: even a crude approximation of justice is unlikely except under a system of law administered by a government.

All this is obvious. So it is strange that though we insist on the need for local governments, state governments, and national governments, we tolerate a complete absence of government on the international level.

Needed: A Governed World

As presently constituted, the United Nations lacks the power to prevent or stop wars. Its assembly cannot make laws; it simply passes resolutions—merely expressions of what a majority of nations considers desirable. Its international court of justice has no authority to compel adjudication of disputes; it functions only when both parties to a dispute are willing to accept its jurisdiction. It has no permanent police force strong enough to enforce its edicts. It has no power to tax; it must depend on contributions from member governments—and these may be discontinued with impunity.

Seekers of peace should be aware of the difference between a league and a government.

A league is simply a voluntary association of sovereign nations. No nation gives up one iota of sovereignty. Any member can decline to go along with the league's decision whenever that decision conflicts with what it regards as its national interest. Sanctions against such a nation can be voted, but cannot be enforced if any major power chooses to ignore them. A government, on the other hand, makes its decisions in the form of laws, which must be obeyed.

What is needed on the world level is a government instead of a league—that is, a law system instead of the present diplomacy-plus-war system. Such a system could be brought into existence by revising the U.N. charter to provide four things: (1) a legislature with strictly limited powers to make laws outlawing armed aggression, preventing nations from maintaining vast armies and arsenals (and, incidentally, relieving them of the need to do so), and providing means for resolving conflicts peacefully and with justice, (2) a system of courts to interpret the laws and adjudicate disputes, (3) an executive backed by a police force adequate to enforce the laws, and (4) a source of tax revenues sufficient to finance these operations and thus assure their continuance.

BUILDING and BRIDGING

The New Group of World Servers

People in the world at this time can be divided into four groups. This is of course a wide generalization and there are many bridging groups intermediate between the four major divisions.

First, the uninformed masses. These through poverty, illiteracy, hunger, lack of employment, without leisure or means for cultural advancement, are in an inflamed condition. They are, however, enough developed to respond to the mental suggestion and control of more advanced people.

Second, the middle classes - both higher and lower. These constitute the bulk of any nation - intelligent, diligent, often narrow-minded, enquiring, essentially religious; they are torn by the economic conflict and, because they can read and discuss and are beginning to think, they form the most powerful element in any nation.

Third, the thinkers everywhere. These are the intellectual, highly educated men and women who sense ideas and can formulate them into ideals. They utilize all the known methods to reach the general public. They stir the middle class to activity and, through them, arouse the masses. The part they play is of paramount importance. They are steadily influencing world affairs - sometimes for good and sometimes for selfish ends.

Fourth, the New Group of World Servers. These are the people who are building the new world order. They are all of them definitely serving the race, and are being gathered out of every nation by the power of their response to the spiritual opportunity, idea and note. They are emerging out of every class, group, church and party, and are therefore truly representative. They speak all languages; they embrace all religions, all sciences and all philosophies. Their characteristics are synthesis, inclusiveness, intellectuality and fine mental development. They say nothing and write no word which could feed the fires of hatred and thus tend to separate man from man and nation from nation. They represent an attitude of mind.

Behind this fourfold division of humanity stand those Enlightened Ones whose right and privilege it is to watch over human evolution and to guide the destinies of men. In the West we call them Christ and His disciples. In the theologies of the East they are called by many names. They are also known as the Agents of God, or the Hierarchy of liberated souls, who seek ceaselessly to aid and help humanity. This they do through the implanting of ideas in the minds of the world thinkers, so that these ideas in due time receive recognition and eventually become controlling factors in human life. They train the members of the New Group of World Servers in the task of changing these ideas into ideals. These in their turn become the desired objectives of the thinkers and are then taught to the powerful middle class and worked up into world forms of government or religion, thus forming the basis of the new world order, into which the masses are patiently incorporated.

THE NEW GROUP OF WORLD SERVERS

"These men and women of goodwill must be found and organized and thus discover their numerical potency - for it is there. They must form a world group, standing for right human relations and educating the public in the nature and power of goodwill. They will thus create a world public opinion which will be so forceful and so outspoken on the side of human welfare that leaders, statesmen, politicians, businessmen, and churchmen will be forced to listen and comply. Steadily and regularly, the general public must be taught an internationalism and a world unity which is based on simple goodwill and on cooperative interdependence!" (Problems of Humanity, p. 178)

"Members of the new group of world servers and men and women of goodwill must be sought for in every department of life. They will be found among the adherents of all the current ideologies and in political and scientific circles, among the world educators and philanthropists, among the creative workers, the industrialists, in ordinary homes and in the ranks of labour. I (Master D.K.) call on all the men and women of goodwill in the world to study the principles of the new world order. I call upon them, as they fight for justice and the rights of the little nations and the future of the children of all nations, to begin to educate those whom they can reach, in right attitudes and in that foresighted vision which make the mistakes of the past impossible in the future." THE WORLD HAS HAD enough...OF HUNGER, INJUSTICE, WAR.
An Answer To Our Call For Help, As World Teacher For All Humanity.

THE CHRIST IS NOW HERE.

HOW WILL WE RECOGNIZE HIM?

Look for a modern man concerned with modern problems- political, economic, and social. Since July 1977 the Christ has been emerging as a spokesman for a group or community in a well known modern country. He is not a religious leader, but an educator in the broadest sense of the word- pointing the way out of our present crisis.

We will recognize Him by His extraordinary spiritual potency, the universality of His viewpoint and His love for all humanity. He comes not to judge but to aid and inspire.

WHO IS THE CHRIST?

Throughout history, humanity's evolution has been guided by a group of enlightened men, the Masters of Wisdom. They have remained largely in the remote desert and mountain places of earth, working mainly through their disciples who live openly in the world. The message of the Christ's reappearance has been given primarily by such a disciple trained for his task for over 20 years.

At the center of the "Spiritual Hierarchy" stands the world teacher, Lord Maitreya, known by Christians as the Christ. And as Christians await the Second Coming, so the Jews await the Messiah, the Buddhists the fifth Buddha, the Moslems the Imam Mahdi and the Hindus await Krishna. These are all names for one individual.

His presence in the world guarantees there will be no third World War.

WHAT IS HE SAYING?

"My task will be to show you how to live together peacefully as brothers. This is simpler than you imagine. My friends, for it requires only the acceptance of sharing."

"How can you be content with the modes within which you now live: when millions starve and die in squalor; when the rich parade their wealth before the poor; when each man is his neighbor's enemy; when no man trusts his brother?"

"Allow me to show you the way forward into a simpler life where no man lacks; where no two days are alike; where the Joy of Brotherhood manifests through all men."

"Take your brother's need as the measure for your action and solve the problems of the world."

WHEN WILL WE SEE HIM?

He has not yet declared His true status, and His location is known to only a very few disciples. One of these has announced the soon the Christ will acknowledge His identity and within the next two months will speak to humanity through a worldwide television and radio broadcast. His message will be heard inwardly, telepathically, by all people in their own language.

From that time, with His help, we will build a new world.

WITHOUT SHARING THERE CAN BE NO JUSTICE;
WITHOUT JUSTICE THERE CAN BE NO PEACE;
WITHOUT PEACE THERE CAN BE NO FUTURE.

WHAT IS THE NEW AGE MOVEMENT?

"Something remarkable is underway. It is moving with almost dizzying speed, but it has no name and eludes description. As Mind/Brain Bulletin reports on new organizations - groups focusing on new approaches to health, humanistic education, new politics, and management - we have been struck with the indefinable quality of the Zeitgeist.

Marilyn Ferguson
(1938-2008)

"The spirit of our age is fraught with paradox. It is at the same time pragmatic and transcendental. It values both enlightenment and mystery . . . power and humility . . . interdependence and individuality. It is simultaneously political and apolitical. Its movers and shakers include individuals who are impeccably Establishment allied with one-time sign-carrying radicals.

Marilyn Ferguson
(1938-2008)

"Within recent history 'it' has infected medicine, education, social sciences, hard sciences, even government with its implications. It is characterized by fluid organizations reluctant to create hierarchical structures, averse to dogma. It operates on the principle that change can only be facilitated, not decreed.

Marilyn Ferguson
(1938-2008)

"It is short on manifestos. It seems to speak to something very old. And perhaps, by integrating magic and science, art and technology, it will succeed where all the king's horses and all the king's men have failed."

["Mind/Brain Bulletin" editorial, January, 1976, as quoted in Marilyn Ferguson, The Aquarian Conspiracy (Los Angeles: J. P. Tarcher), 18]

Marilyn Ferguson
(1938-2008)

"They believe that man's problems can be solved by freeing his thinking, by freeing the processes of thought within himself, and by tapping into a divine potential which exists within all of us.

"Sometimes it's called life force, sometimes it's literally called The Force as it was in Star Wars, sometimes it's called ch'i, the Chinese term (ki, the Japanese term). Sometimes it's believed to be prana, a Hindu term for a divine essence that permeates all of us.

"So whatever the term used, there is a divine force which we can all tap to solve all our problems or to basically realign misaligned energies within our bodies.

Eric Pement

"One of the preeminent premises of New Age philosophy, of people who are looking for a New Age, is that we all need to transform our minds and transform our thinking.

Eric Pement

Mark B. Woodhouse

"The New Age is both a world view that weaves together leading edge science and perennial spiritual wisdom, and an expanding grass roots movement that draws to itself individuals from every profession, political and religious background, and walk of life. Like emerging cultures and paradigm shifts from the past, this historic turning point is born of the interlocking failures of traditional institutions and beliefs to accommodate both our deepest aspirations for evolutionary growth and the radically shifting circumstances of our environment.

Mark B. Woodhouse

"The New Age stands in pointed, if precarious, contrast to many guiding assumptions of Western culture by virtue of its affirmation of wholeness, balance, integration, and mutually empowering cooperation, in preference to fragmentation, hierarchy, competition, and fear.

Mark B. Woodhouse

"This emerging mind set, through whatever labels it may attract, both contributes to and is nourished by an expanded vision of human potential, the quest for world peace, gender equality, animal liberation, ecological sanity, the development of alternative health care systems, accelerated inter-dimensional penetration, new scientific discoveries, the coming inversion of corporate and economic realities, and the genre of visionary art and music that awakens ancient memories and inspires the journey home."

Mark B. Woodhouse

"Above all, the New Age holds out limitless possibilities of joy, health, appropriate abundance, and wisdom for those who accept responsibility for consciously creating reality and to grow and to [word unclear] of unconditional love for others, for themselves, the planet, and for the divine source in which we live and move and have our being."

Like emerging cultures and paradigm shifts from the past, this historic turning point is born of the interlocking failures of traditional institutions and beliefs to accommodate both our deepest aspirations for evolutionary growth and the radically shifting circumstances of our environment.

The myth of man-made global warming / climate change

"The New Age is both a world view that weaves together leading edge science and perennial spiritual wisdom, and an expanding grass roots movement that draws to itself individuals from every profession, political and religious background, and walk of life. Like emerging cultures and paradigm shifts from the past, this historic turning point is born of the interlocking failures of traditional institutions and beliefs to accommodate both our deepest aspirations for evolutionary growth and the radically shifting circumstances of our environment.

The Classical Realist tradition together with the Christian world view, including objective truth and objective morality

"The New Age stands in pointed, if precarious, contrast to many guiding assumptions of Western culture by virtue of its affirmation of wholeness, balance, integration, and mutually empowering cooperation, in preference to fragmentation, hierarchy, competition, and fear.

"The New Age stands in pointed, if precarious, contrast to many guiding assumptions of Western culture by virtue of its affirmation of wholeness, balance, integration, and mutually empowering cooperation, in preference to fragmentation, hierarchy, competition, and fear.

Objective truth claims and the exclusivity of salvation in Christ

The creation order of authority from The Father, through the Son, through the husband and wife as parents, and of human beings over nature

Personal responsibility

"The New Age stands in pointed, if precarious, contrast to many guiding assumptions of Western culture by virtue of its affirmation of wholeness, balance, integration, and mutually empowering cooperation, in preference to fragmentation, hierarchy, competition, and fear.

Accountability before God and the prospect of the coming eternal judgment

"The New Age stands in pointed, if precarious, contrast to many guiding assumptions of Western culture by virtue of its affirmation of wholeness, balance, integration, and mutually empowering cooperation, in preference to fragmentation, hierarchy, competition, and fear.
