What Does it Mean to Glorify God?

"The phrase 'the glory of God,' is equivalent to the honor of God; and the direction is:

- ❖ that we should so act in all things as to honor Him as our Lawgiver, our Creator, our Redeemer
- ❖ to lead others by our example to praise him and to embrace his gospel.

Albert Barnes
(1798-1870)

"A child acts so as to honor a father when:

- ❖ he always cherishes reverential and proper thoughts of him;
  - ❖ he is thankful for his favors;
  - ❖ he keeps his laws;
- ❖ he endeavors to advance his plans and his interests; and
- ❖ he so acts as to lead all around him to cherish elevated opinions of the character of a father.

Albert Barnes
(1798-1870)

"He dishonors him when:

- ❖ he has no respect to his authority;
  - ❖ he breaks his laws;
- ❖ he leads others to treat him with disrespect.

Albert Barnes
(1798-1870)

"In like manner, we live to the glory of God when:

- ❖ we honor him in all the relations which he sustains to us;
  - ❖ we keep his laws;
- ❖ we partake of his favors with thankfulness, and with a deep sense of our dependence;
  - ❖ we pray unto him; and
- ❖ we so live as to lead those around us to cherish elevated conceptions of his goodness, and mercy, and holiness.

Evil and Sin

What Is Evil?

Regarding evil, one of the most common distinctions in contemporary apologetics and philosophy is between natural evil and moral evil.

Moral Evil

Unwarranted, pain, suffering, and death that is deliberately caused by a conscious agent.

This distinction in contemporary philosophy differs from the understanding of evil in the Classical / Medieval / Scholastic / Thomistic tradition.

If God created everything except Himself, and, if evil is something, then it would seem that God created evil.

If God did not create evil,
then it would seem either:
evil is unreal
or evil is not a thing.

Augustine
354-430

Augustine on Evil as Privation

Augustine
354-430

There is a difference between:
being nothing
(unreal)
and not being a thing.

Augustine
354-430

Augustine argued that evil is real but is not a thing. Rather, it is a privation or a lack in things.

“Evil is only the privation
of a good.”

[Confessions, III, 7, §12]

“Now evil is in a substance because something which it
was originally to have,
and which it ought to have, is lacking in it.”

[Summa Contra Gentiles, III, 6, §1]

Thomas Aquinas
1225-1274

“Evil is simply a privation of something which a subject is entitled by its origin to possess and which it ought to have.”

[Summa Contra Gentiles, III, 7, §2]

Thomas Aquinas
1225-1274

“Evil cannot exist by itself, since it has no essence... Therefore, evil must be in a subject.”

[Summa Contra Gentiles, III, 11, §2]

Thomas Aquinas
1225-1274

Note that there is a difference between a privation and a negation.

A negation is the mere absence or removal of something.

A privation is the absence or removal of something that “ought” to be there.

privation

A rock cannot see, but it is not blind because it "ought" not be able to see.

Blindness is the privation of sight.
But blindness is not a thing in itself.

negation

privation

A rock cannot see, but it is not blind because it "ought" not be able to see.

Blindness is the displacement of sight.
But blindness is not a thing in itself.

negation

You were perfect in your ways from the day you were created, Till iniquity was found in you. By the abundance of your trading You became filled with violence within, And you sinned; Therefore I cast you as a profane thing Out of the mountain of God; And I destroyed you, O covering cherub, From the midst of the fiery stones.
